JIM'S CORNER

As I write this article, I along with others in the club, are preparing for our annual trip It's mentioned in almost every article I to Woodruff, SC, to the "Joe Nall" RC write about checking over your plane prior event at Triple Tree Aerodrome. This is to coming to the field, but we still see the largest RC flying event in the country, planes with some sort of problems occurand it's guite an experience. Lots to see ring as planes are brought out for the first and gets the RC juices flowing. warmer weather helps.

We have been working on getting our RC field in shape for a season of flying. The The weather is getting better so get those field has been cut several times, and it's planes out and do some flying. been rolled so you should experience Our next meeting is on Sunday, May 18th smoother landings and takeoffs.

At this time we are looking at taking down Jim Litwin the shelter walls on Saturday, May 31st. A President

Dennys Stuff

Well, after a stupid accident with my Hanger 9 J3-Piper Cub, it is all back together, ready to fly. Just waiting for the weather to make it possible.

So what happened to that model? It took place after landing the model, where the North East wind caused the Cub to drift on the ground, South toward the fence.

needs to be sent to the AMA. There was no vote taken on the issue.

New Pilots - None

Show & Tell – Roman gave away his Carbon Cub and Revolver. Both models were in excellent condition and would make great flying planes for a member that wants to take a step up from a Trainer Plane. Thanks. Roman!!

Raffle Drawing – Steve Novone won the April Raffle. Steve donated the entire $26.00 to the club. Thank you Steve!!

Close Meeting – Jim closed the meeting with a reminder the next club meeting will be Sunday May 18th at 1PM at the club house.

couple of hours of time should do it.

The time after a winter season. A little maintenance goes a long way in preventing a bigger problem later on.

> at 1 PM at the field. See you then. Flv Safe & Have Fun

Thought I'd cleared the fence, but, nope. The model hit the fence at the opening on the motors cowling, damaging the cowling, and the battery access canopy.

In hind sight, a simple rudder command would have saved the day.

We were leaving for the East Coast the next day. I checked Tower Hobbies, they had both the cowling and the access canopy in stock. Oh well, they will be ordered middle of the next week while at the East Coast of the USA.

In Washington DC, the Tower Web page showed that they were out of stock on the cowling, with next delivery scheduled for August or September. Or worse, depending on what tariffs are active then.

At any rate, the Battery canopy didn't fit well. I had to do some major sanding to make the battery canopy fit. And, in the mean time, the plexiglass canopy popped loose from the wood frame.

FYI, years ago l've used CA to attach those canopies to the wood frame. That danged CA likes run all over the place, ruining the appearance.

I've since been using the "E6000" clear transparent adhesive for gluing in items that need to be attached without the glue showing. That adhesive was also used to attach the fake engine plastic units to the cowling.

This E6000 adhesive is readily available at most hardware stores. It is a gel compound, and stays exactly where you put it, IE, it does not run all over the place like CA. And, it works very well for canopies.

Added to that was the need to re-glue the iron plates for the canopy magnets. Ace hardware has some "Auto and Plumbing repair Metal hand moldable multi-purpose epoxy putty stick".

This stuff comes in a transparent plastic tube about an inch in diameter and 4 inches long. The epoxy is a preformed slug about 4 inches long. The epoxy hardener and activator are concentric (Inside and outside) in the slug.

It's used by slicing off the amount of epoxy you need, and mixing it with rubber gloves til it is medium grey. You have about 5 minutes to work with it before it starts setting up. It is rock hard after setting up.

Last but not least, the motor cowl needed to be repainted. The spray can indicated it can be used between 50F to 90F. I sprayed it outside at 59F. And, got runs all over the place.

So, the paint was removed with solvent before it set up. Repainting was done in my workshop while using my exhaust fan that blows all the fumes outside the basement. It looks OK from 10 feet away. At any rate, a new cowl is coming from Tower Hobbies sometime this year.

Here is some of Roger N's 3D printing stuff, with a vertical A123 pack mounting along with Rogers wing bolt wrench!

DennyV's trip to the USA East Coast.

My Wife Ona May, her son Ron and I traveled to the East Coast in April to visit with some of their friends who visited the USA from Switzerland. On the way, we stopped by the Dayton Ohio Airforce Museum in Dayton Ohio, along with a second Air Museum near the Dulles Airport near Washington DC.

That Dayton Ohio museum has to be seen to be believed. It has four buildings, along with a silo shaped building housing a number of missiles.

To give an idea of the size of the four buildings, one end of one of the buildings houses a full size B-52 Bomber. Inside the building! Each of these buildings is 200 feet longer that our field is long, and one of the four buildings would cover our entire flying field. (There are no internal supports on any of the buildings!)

This museum contains over 360 airplanes of all vintages from the early 1900's to the present day, along with countless engines and rocket engines of all types. They even had a weird 12 cylinder aircraft engine that consisted of three rows of cylinders with four pistons in each row.

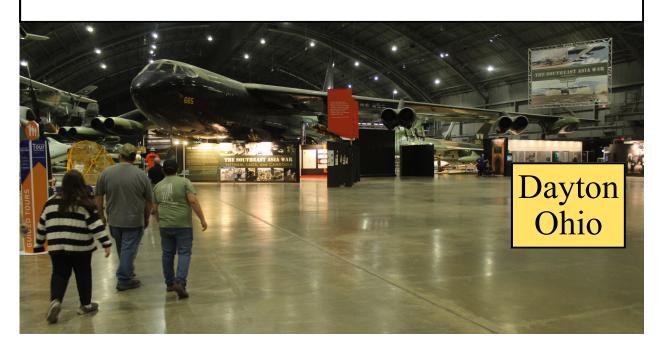

Everything is free, except the food, and a 400 seat movie theater. They even provide electric handicap scooters free of charge. Ona May used one the first day, and your editor shared a second one with Ron the second day. There is a LOT of walking!

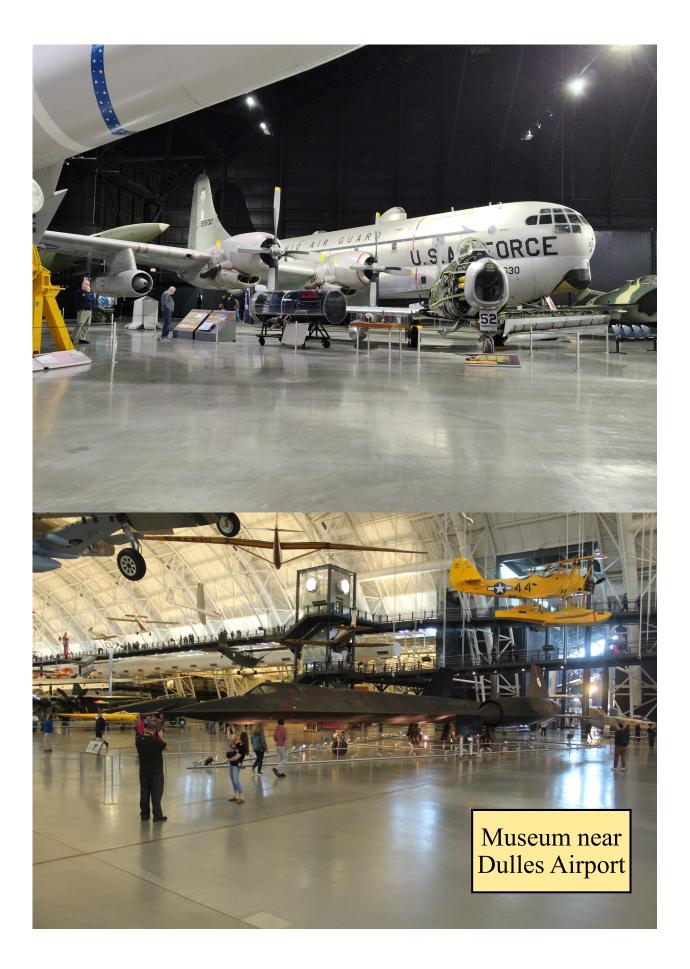

Here is just a few of the hundreds of photos and videos I took on the Dayton and the DC air museums. IMHO, if you ever travel within an hours drive of Dayton, this museum is an absolute must see

If you can't get to see this museum, take a look at these youtube videos of this museum It is two parts, an hour each. (Copy/paste into Google)
